

Norðic®

MIDWEST
GROUNDCOVERS
LLC

Midwest's Scandinavian roots originate in the Nordic country of Denmark. Our line of Norðic® plants embody characteristics that one would expect from such a powerful name:

- Vigorous
- Hardy
- Durable
- Functional

They provide a strong element to any landscape design!

Norðic® Spire Arborvitae

Norðic® Spire Arborvitae is a cross of T. plicata and T. standishii and is a selection by Anton Thomsen.

Why it is Norðic®: Resistance to blight, strong central leader that resists splitting.

Landscape Value: Ideal for a large space for its sweeping branches and graceful habit.

Norðic® Spire Arborvitae

Norðic® Brabant Arborvitae

Norðic® Brabant Arborvitae was also selected by Anton Thomsen.

Why it is Norðic®: Vigorous, bright green foliage, resistant to opening/snow damage, resilient, long lived.

Landscape Value: Great for dense hedges.

Norðic® Brabant Arborvitae

Norðic® Blue Juniper

Norðic® Blue Juniper, formerly known as 'Blue Mountain', is a cultivar of Juniperus virginiana selected by Anton Thomsen.

Why it is Norðic®: Strong disease resistance, durability, and top performance.

Landscape Value: Slightly arching branch habit and stunning, persistent, and bountiful gray-blue berries.

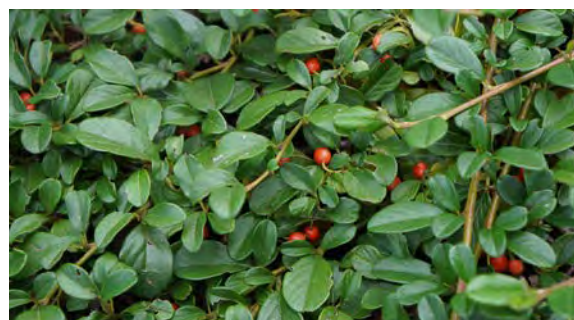

Norðic® Blue Juniper

Cotoneaster Nordic Carpet®

Nordic Carpet® Cotoneaster, a cultivar of Cotoneaster dammeri, was introduced to Midwest in the early 1990's through Danish plant connections.

Why it is Norðic®: Durability, hardy, adaptable.

Landscape Value: Unusually low-growing and semi-evergreen woody groundcover with red berries in the fall.

Cotoneaster Nordic Carpet®

Norðic® Fourth of July Arborvitae

Norðic® Fourth of July Arborvitae is a cross of T. plicata and T. standishii and cousin to Norðic® Spire. Another selection by Anton Thomsen. Thomsen planted an alley of the hybrid at the entrance of the Rebild (pronounced Raybill) National Park in Denmark for the 4th of July celebration in 1999.

Why it is Norðic®: Resistance to blight, strong central leader.

Landscape Value: Branches are more upright on Norðic® Fourth of July than on Norðic® Spire.
